

Founded in 1972 as a family business, LITALSA has become Spain's top factory on lithography and varnishing. LITALSA has been pioneer in the use of the most advanced technology on the lithography field to supply a vast diversity of markets and clients both national and international.

LITALSA's Board has stated some key points of action:

- Ensure the inclusion of responsible food safety attitudes, values and practices in the daily tasks of all members of the organization within the concept of food safety culture.
- Ensure the fulfillment of all legal and environmental requirements and prevent all risks related to work and food security.
- Fulfill all of our clients' expectations, requirements and specifications, current and future, and apply them to our activity. Our target is to do things right the first time.
- Keep improving our process and our management system to obtain safe products.
- Evaluate significant aspects and risks for the health of all workers and people related to our activity, services and products.
- Prevent, minimize and delete when possible all environmental risks and all negative effects of our activity on the environment. Prevent all risks that may affect the health of all parties involved, maintaining a work ethical culture committed with the workers.
- Establish objectives which will be examined and updated periodically by the Board to ensure the improvement of our quality and food security and of our environmental behavior to achieve secure jobs and have all means to obtain results.
